As states and regions reopen their economies, Pilgrim Place will remain steadfast in our diligence to protect the health and safety of our residents and employees by continuing our heightened precautionary and screening measures.

We continue to monitor the COVID-19 situation closely and adjust our operations following guidance from all national, state and local health agencies to implement measures that will further limit exposure to COVID-19. Additionally, we anticipate having greater access to testing supplies and we will follow the new testing guidelines implemented by state and county public health departments.

To our employees: Words cannot express how much we appreciate the care and compassion you offer each day while looking after the safety and well-being of our residents. In addition, you have accepted the responsibility of taking the necessary precautions of looking after your own wellbeing once you've left work, knowing that protecting yourself is essential toward protecting your family at home as well as all who live and work at Pilgrim Place.

We're all looking forward to the day when we can resume our lives as a community and socialize with our family and friends. In the meantime, thank you for your continued commitment and support as we focus on the physical and emotional well-being of the senior living residents we serve.

Warm regards,
