

MULTI-RELIGIOUS

Pilgrim Place is a place where you can continue your life's pilgrimage. Its tenants are built upon Peace, Social Justice and care for the Earth. These same tenants run through most of the world's religions.

Many residents of this community have shared their careers and passions with understanding, and helping others understand, the similarities of faiths and religions rather than the differences. This has been accomplished through "missionary" work, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), non-profit organizations (NPOs), and religious work globally, nationally and locally.

However you heard of Pilgrim Place, we hope it's because our culture is one in which you can find yourself living in the rest of your life. Shared beliefs in making this a better world, no matter of faith, religion, non-religion, race, culture, gender, gender preference or ethnicity.

Several years ago a new resident shared that they chose to move to Pilgrim Place because they had been battling all their life for their beliefs and they knew they would be accepted for who they were at Pilgrim Place. Acceptance, for the rest of their lives.

Pilgrim Place still has its ties to the mainly Christian faiths, and persons with non-Christian beliefs are finding the community open, caring and interested in sharing commonalities and learning about new ways of looking at the world.
